The Lifetime Sportsman Award was created by Park Cities Quail Unlimited in 2006 to recognize an area sportsman who has distinguished themselves by living a life of adventure, love of the outdoors, respect for natural resources and most of all a person who has demonstrated a spirit of giving back and making it possible for others to enjoy the sporting life.

Previous Recipient: 2006: Walter Kellogg

Walter was known by many in the region as the consummate gentleman sportsman. A lover of bird dogs and the traditions of the sport, Walter introduced many youth to their first hunt. He helped dog breeders get their start and was generous with his time and resources. An enthusiastic supporter of Quail Unlimited and many other worthwhile causes that improved the sporting life, Walter encouraged the formation of Park Cities Quail Unlimited. Unfortunately Walter passed to the "prairie eternal" just few weeks before the 2006 ceremony but he left a legacy of the sporting life to his family and many others throughout the country.

Making a difference.... Park Cities Quail Unlimited has adopted the Rolling Plains Quail Research Ranch as our primary beneficiary. This worthy cause will make an impact for local sportsmen for generations to come. Over half the total proceeds from our banquet will go to the R.P.Q.R.R..

Rolling Plains Quail Research Ranch The disappointing 2006-07 quail season has ended, but a bright new venture for quail has just begun in West Texas. Quail enthusiasts can thank donors of a Fisher County ranch for actively trying to save dwindling wild quail populations. Dr. Dale Rollins, Texas Cooperative Extension wildlife specialist at San Angelo announced that a 4,700 acre ranch has been made available to him for quail research by The Conservation Fund. The ranch, formerly the J.T. Martin Ranch, and now known as the Rolling Plains Quail Research Ranch, is to be used as a research and demonstration facility to foster our understanding and management of bobwhite and scaled quail in West Texas. The vision for the ranch is to sustain Texas' wild quail hunting heritage for this and future generations. The ranch is blessed with excellent quail habitat, and currently supports a quail population higher than most Rolling Plains properties. It has 700 acres in the Conservation Reserve Program, about 40 acres of cropland, with the balance being native range. Quail will be the focus in all we do on the ranch. We'll be testing various burning and grazing methods with the goal in mind as to how to best manipulate plant communities for quail habitat. The Conservation Fund will hold the property until a separate 501 (c)(3) nonprofit foundation can be established to take possession of the ranch. A board of directors and advisory committee has been named; Rollins has been named the ranch's director. More information is available at <http://teamquail.tamu.edu>
